Most churches have a cross in them to remind everyone that Jesus was on earth and died as humans did, but was really God and lives for ever as God own. One version needs card, tissue paper and glue. You cut a cross shape out of card and then cover the space inside with different colours of cellophane or tissue paper. If you hang it in your window, it looks like a stained glass window as the sun shines through. Another version needs thick card or foam sheet, glue, aluminium foil and a pen. Cut a cross shape out of card or foam sheet (you may need some adult help) and cover it with glue. Stick aluminium foil over it, folding the foil round to form the shape. Then use a pen tip or beautiful pattern in the foil. Where will you hang your cross?
